

---

seventeen

April 12th, 2007

<http://www.seventeen.com/fun-stuff/17-buzz/brick-awards-0407>

17 Buzz

Get the latest news, gossip, and trends!

Tonight, The CW is airing the BR!CK Awards, a very special awards ceremony for teens who have made a positive difference in the world through community service. The ceremony is cohosted by LeAnn Rimes and Damien Fahey. It's been presented since 1996 by Do Something, an organization that encourages youth service, but this is the first time it's being televised. Seventeen was lucky enough to snatch an invite to the ceremony and hit the red carpet with Mandy Moore, LeAnn Rimes, Jamie-Lynn Sigler, and more hot celebs!

When we arrived at the show, we were whisked into the press line directly in front of the red carpet! We were so surprised to see how small the red carpet was and how slow the celebs move from interview to interview. Everything looks faster on TV!

The first person to hit the carpet was also the most exciting for us since we're huge Top Model fans. As he moved toward us in his blue and purple pin-striped suit, we nearly hyperventilated at the sight of Mr. Nigel Barker, noted fashion photographer! Nigel is even taller in person and has the dreamiest brown eyes. He's a really eloquent speaker (hot accent!), and we were impressed with his charity work. He recently shot a book of photographs for the Make a Wish Foundation.

Out of the corner of our face from One Tree Hill: at the ceremony.

Next, we caught a glimpse of Hilarie Burton from One Tree Hill. It was freezing outside and her dress was so tiny! We could tell she was cold, but she was a total trouper and hung out on the runway longer than most of the other celebs. Hilarie was a presenter at the ceremony and is involved with Camp Kindle, a camp in Nebraska for kids living with AIDS.

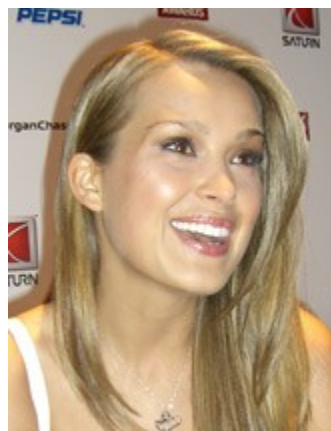

eye we spotted another familiar Bryan Greenberg, who presented

Jamie-Lynn Sigler dazzled the red carpet in the night's prettiest dress -- a white, low-cut lace number with flower embroidery. Jamie is an ambassador to the National Eating Disorders Association, and was a presenter at the ceremony as well.

The best part of being at models and celebrities in model/actor and you person famous -- they're sometimes you see them and glamorous in person. Nemcova. She is does great things for the a red carpet event is seeing the flesh! Sometimes you see a think to yourself, How is this not even that pretty?! And and they look even more beautiful This is the case with Petra absolutely stunning in person and world, too! Petra was awarded a celebrity BR!CK for her work with tsunami victims in Southeast Asia.

The red carpet got more and more crowded as the ceremony approached. We saw Wyclef Jean, Susan Sarandon, and Mandy Moore, all within a few minutes of each other. Mandy looked awesome in a short black dress and dark, rocker-chic makeup. We didn't have that much time to talk to her, but we did get in one quick shot as she was whisked past photographers.

David Faigenbaum (a hunky Georgetown football player) was one of the many award recipients who walked the red carpet. David lost his mother to cancer and then started Students of AMF, a support group for young people who are grieving.

to create an organization witnessing a bank from Susan Sarandon, crush on him!

Theo Milonopoulos was inspired that combats violence after holdup. He won a special award and inspired us to have a major

After the red carpet, we ceremony was held at the superchic Nokia Amphitheatre in Times Square). All the stories about the award recipients and their community service were so heartwarming. They even made us tear up a few times.

took our seats inside (the

Check out the BR!CK Awards tonight, April 12, 2007, at 9 p.m. on The CW. For more information on how you can give back to your community, visit Do Something.